INTRODUCTORY OFFER FOR CERTIFICATION SERVICES

We would like to help you with business marketing and accreditation on an agreed basis. We can even make this profitable for you (see last paragraph overleaf).

Established in 1995, ASCB is one of the leading international accreditation bodies in the world, known and respected for its integrity and impartiality. Accreditation is the generic term used to define the function of assessing, by a discrete third party, the technical competence of a Certification Body. ASCB was established to provide such a process in an independent body. It utilises a quantitative evaluation of conformity to monitor and assess the performance of its accredited organisations, on a regular basis.

The award of ASCB accreditation to a certification body places on record that it has been assessed for full conformance and demonstrable best practice.

ASCB is a member of the Global Accreditation Forum (GAF), an international association for accreditation which promotes best practices in quality assurance in the public interest. It has a defined purpose based upon a predication of quality, from a human rights perspective. Its presumption of quality is defined on the basis of public expectation of quality, and it asserts that products and services have to provide satisfaction in ownership for the end user.

AANZ is Accreditation for Australia and New Zealand. We can easily and quickly refer this organisation which has direct access to ASCB international. For Management Systems we offer Certification to ISO 9001, 14001, 18001, 22001, 31001, AS/NZS 4360. AANZ can also offer Certification for approved training courses.

Summit Systems Ltd is able to carry our preliminary review of a client to help the client be sure of getting through the process with the minimum hassles. We can offer the review at a very economic fee and it can be completed in less than three hours of your time.

Would you kindly allow us to send one of our Consultants to give you further information about this offer and to explain the benefits that come with international certification. Please refer overleaf for some of the advantages to carefully consider.

Yours faithfully
